Pump House Closes for the Season

It's that time of year again. The winter weather is on its way. And with the chill in the air and the oncoming weather we've officially decided to close down the pump house water source to prevent any frozen pipes.

If by chance, you absolutely need to fill your water containers you may use the office hose or better yet, go into town and fill up with the fresh, clean water at the Hegins Water Authority Building.

The pump house water will reopen again in the warmer months.

Meteor Shower 2018

What better place to see a meteor shower than a dark night at Rausch Creek with no city lights to filter out the magnificent show in the night sky.

The Leonid meteor shower will peak on Saturday, November 17, with around 10 to 20 shooting stars to appear every hour. The meteors, which will be travelling at around 44 miles per second, will appear as bright, colorful streaks across the night sky.

This year's Leonid meteor shower should be fairly easy to see—weather permitting—as it coincides with a waxing gibbous Moon. This is the point between a first quarter moon and full moon, meaning it will not be particularly bright—the light from a full moon makes it harder to see meteor showers.

Best time is from 3 A.M. to dawn—go outside and lie flat on your back, and look straight overhead. Be sure to allow 30 minutes or so for your eyes to adapt to the dark; avoid glancing at the bright screen of your cell phone, as this will mess up your night vision.

Happy Stargazing!

TIP OF THE DAY

Some fun turkey facts!

- Did you know the average American eats 16 pounds of turkey a year, even though the average turkey only eats 8 pounds of American?

Many turkeys are scientifically ignorant. This one still believes in Bohr's model of the atom!

- Wild turkeys can fly just far enough to still be slaughtered easily.

- It may seem surprising, but it's taken years of careful breeding to grow turkeys that have ducks inside of them.

- Logically, turkeys must reproduce just like any other animal, but scientists haven't studied it because nobody wants to see that.

- There's a chance Thanksgiving is just part of the turkey's long game to have humans annually breed a turkey army with hundreds of millions of turkey warriors.
